WELCOME MESSAGE

President

All India Ophthalmological Society APAO-AIOS 2025

Dear Friends,

It is with great honor and immense pleasure that I welcome you to the 40th APAO Congress, co-hosted by the 83rd Annual Conference of the All India Ophthalmological Society (AIOS), called APAO-AIOS 2025 Congress set to take place in the heart of India—at the Yashobhoomi - India International Convention & Expo Centre, Dwarka, New Delhi from April 3-6, 2025.

With the theme "Transcending Boundaries in Ophthalmology," this prestigious event is more than just a conference—it is a global gathering of experts, practitioners, researchers, and trainees, all united by a shared passion for advancing eye care. Together, we will explore the latest breakthroughs, engage in insightful discussions, and collaborate on shaping the future of ophthalmology.

A Community Committed to Vision and Innovation

As of December 2024, 27 national, regional, and territorial societies have joined the Asia-Pacific Academy of Ophthalmology (APAO) as full or associate members. The Asia-Pacific region alone accounts for more than 120,000 ophthalmologists—representing 59% of the world's ophthalmology community. This underscores the immense responsibility we share in improving vision and quality of life across the region and beyond.

The APAO-AIOS Congress is more than just a meeting—it is a thriving community of 120,000 like-minded professionals, united by a commitment to advancing eye health. Through robust discussions and meaningful exchanges, we will push the boundaries of what is possible in ophthalmology, forging new paths toward excellence in patient care.

Envisioning the Future of Eye Health

"To see and see well", we must protect not only our vision but also the very conditions that sustain it and to guard our seeing by protecting the dark (tamso ma jyotirgomoyo – from darkness to light).

Our eyes are a complex ecosystem—from the tear film to the layers of the cornea; the lens and zonules; and then to the retina, choroid, and optic nerve complex — all forming the integral parts of this delicate ecosystem. Both the ecosystems of our eyes and the larger ecosystems they are a part of must be better cared for to achieve greater clarity, perhaps even to envision a future where we can all navigate with a positive outlook toward better eye healthcare.

A Heartfelt Thanks

I extend my deepest gratitude to the organizing committees of both sides, all the members of the APAO and AIOS Secretariates. And to all delegates.

Sincerely,

Samar Kumar BASAK
President, All India Ophthalmological Society APAO-AIOS 2025

ACADEMIC PARTNER

South Asian Academy of Ophthalmology (SAO)

The idea of the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC) was conceived in 1970, and a formal charter was signed at the governmental level by the seven founding countries on December 8, 1985, in Nepal. The eighth country, Afghanistan, joined in April 2007.

SAO is a unique concept of regional cooperation with a very distinct diversity of geography, culture, and environment. The region features the highest mountains in the world and has land-locked mountain terrains. One of the member countries, Maldives, is the smallest island nation in the world. SAO got its affiliation with SAARC because of its impressive academic and patient care in this region.

Health professionals from these countries join hands to develop common goals, objectives, and opportunities, where health interventions will not only achieve freedom from illness but also ensure a bright future by bringing peace, progress, and prosperity to the entire region. Currently, the SAARC Academy of Ophthalmology is referred to as the South Asian Academy of Ophthalmology (registered name), or SAO. Its President is Prof. Dr. Rajvardhan AZAD and its Secretary-General is Dr. Lalit VERMA.

Jose Rizal Medal Lecture:

The Aetiology, Diagnosis and Management of Keratoconus: Understanding the Contemporary Evidence Base and Dispelling 170 Years of Misconceptions

[Plenary Session] Celebrating Excellence in Ophthalmology - APAO 2025 Award Lectures

Date: April 3, 2025

Time: 11:30-11:50

Venue: Brahmkamal Hall - Auditorium A

Although aspects of keratoconus have been partly understood for nearly 200 years, it was Dr John Nottingham's landmark publication that consolidated basic concepts in 1854. Notably, in December 2024, a literature search revealed almost 10,000 articles have since been published on aspects of keratoconus, The vast majority (80%) of these articles have been published since 2020, indeed, this information overload continues at around 10 articles per week! This has consolidated the evidence base substantially and refuted, but also perpetuated, a number of misconceptions. This myriad, oftentimes highly technical, blizzard of publications makes it extremely difficult for busy clinicians to stay apace of rapid developments. This APAO Jose Rizal 2025 lecture seeks to identify 12 key elements of the aetiology and management of keratoconus to help the audience create a rubric to understand those observations that are important clinically, and those which are still largely important in research settings and not yet widely clinically applicable. Aetiological aspects to be considered include: genetics, atopy, eye rubbing and the ongoing debate about the role of inflammation. Management issues will include: diagnosis and diagnostic devices, AI and machine learning, contact lens applications, corneal cross-linking, intracorneal ring-segments and their variations, corneal transplantation, IOL management of astigmatism in KC, and the future potential of gene and cell therapy.

HOLMES LECTURE

The Holmes Lecture is the highest award for exceptional contributions to preventive ophthalmology, especially in the prevention of blindness in the Asia-Pacific region. The Holmes Lecture is named in memory of Dr. William J Holmes, the founding Secretary-General of APAO.

R.D. RAVINDRAN
MS, DO
India

Dr. R.D. Ravindran completed his residency (1982–1987) and started his career under the guidance of Dr. G. VENKATASWAMY, Founder of Aravind Eye Care System. In the early 1990s, during the expansion of the Aravind Eye Hospital network, Dr. Ravindran was appointed as its Chief Medical Officer (CMO), an important role which provided him with vast hands-on experience in developing its first secondary care hospital and three tertiary care hospitals from 1988 to 2010. As CMO of four eye hospitals for 23 years, Dr. Ravindran was instrumental in setting up the pay-for-service hospital, free hospital, and community outreach eye camps in each location.

The community outreach eye camps included screening for the elderly, school children, and industrial workers, as well as diabetic retinopathy screening in community settings. Under his leadership as CMO, more than 200 eye camps were conducted annually, while 10,000 to 12,000 patients were transported to base hospitals for cataract surgery every year.

In the year 2005-2006, he worked on the establishment of five telemedicine-enabled primary eye care centers in villages around Pondicherry.

At Aravind's first three tertiary care centers, Dr. Ravindran launched residency programs leading to postgraduate degrees in ophthalmology and oversaw the starting of long-term fellowship programs in all subspecialties. Throughout his tenure as the chief of various hospitals over 23 years, he steered the training of over 100 residents and over 200 subspecialty fellows.

Dr. Ravindran also contributed his efforts to four major community-based blindness prevalence studies, including the Aravind Comprehensive Eye Survey (1995-1997), the Indeye Survey (2005- 2010), and two national RAAB (Rapid Assessment of Avoidable Blindness) surveys under the Government of India in 2007 and 2017.

In 2010, he took up the roles of Chairman and Director, Quality at Aravind Eye Care System. Currently, he oversees 14 eye hospitals and 120 primary eye care centers, providing care to an average of 20,000 outpatients and performing around 2,500 procedures daily. Apart from managing and mentoring the key leaders of the institution, his areas of responsibility include teaching eye health management courses leading to capacity building of eye hospitals, and ongoing mentoring work undertaken by Aravind Eye Hospitals, covering over 350 eye hospitals across the globe.

Devoted to public services, Dr. Ravindran currently serves as an Advisory Board Member of the National Programme for Control of Blindness & Visual Impairment (NPCBVI) and a Member of the Academic Council, Healthcare Sector Skill Council (HSSC), both under the Government of India, New Delhi, since 2017 and 2020 respectively.

Previously, he served as a Regional Co-chair of the International Agency for the Prevention of Blindness (IAPB) from 2004 to 2012, and was a Board Member of VISION 2020: The Right to Sight – India from 2008 to 2020. Earlier, he was a Member (Ophthalmology) of the Taskforce on Standard Treatment Guidelines, Government of India, New Delhi from 2015 to 2017. He was also a Member of the first Expert Committee of the National Accreditation Board for Hospitals (NABH) in formulating its first set of quality standards for eye hospitals in 2016-2017.

He was the Chairman of the Scientific Committee of Tamil Nadu Ophthalmic Association (TNOA) conferences on three occasions in 1990, 1999, and 2007, and was the Organizing Secretary of the 38th TNOA Annual Conference, Tirunelveli in 1990. In addition, he was President of Coimbatore Ophthalmic Association from 1998 to 2002, and President of Pondicherry Ophthalmic Association from 2007 to 2009.

With these achievements, Dr. Ravindran has received around 30 accolades, including awards from universities to honor his academic excellence, and named orations from various organizations and societies at state, national, and international levels. He has authored over 90 publications in peer-reviewed and non-peer-reviewed journals, and has contributed his expertise as a reviewer for several ophthalmology journals.

Holmes Lecture:
Improving Cataract Surgical Quality Through Monitoring and Benchmarking – an Improvement Journey

[Plenary Session] Celebrating Excellence in Ophthalmology - APAO 2025 Award Lectures

Date: April 3, 2025

Time: 11:50-12:10

Venue: Brahmkamal Hall - Auditorium A

Ensuring constant improvement of patient care is essential for the translation of scientific advancements into better healthcare provision. The explosion of knowledge and technology has added complexity to the healthcare system. Hence, the systematic and regular monitoring of outcomes has become increasingly important for continuous improvements. Quality healthcare delivery is also a key component of sustainability. By adopting evidence-based practices backed by scientific research and implementing effective monitoring, we can achieve better outcomes – boosting surgeons' confidence, raising their productivity, attracting more patients, improving compliance, and fostering greater trust among patients at the community level.

Aravind Eye Hospitals have established a comprehensive system to enhance outcomes in cataract surgery. Started in the early days with manual documentation, it has now evolved into a web-based system that captures details directly from electronic medical records (EMR). Data collected at the individual patient level is collated and analyzed based on pre-defined indicators, including preoperative ocular status, surgical complications, resurgery, compliance with follow-up, and postoperative outcomes. Such data analysis is available to individual surgeons, enabling them to benchmark their performance against their peers and across the 14 hospitals in the system. Through measuring and benchmarking surgery outcomes, eye care providers can identify quality gaps, uncover opportunities for progress, and implement appropriate strategies for continuous improvement.

ICO Mark Tso Golden Apple Award Lecture: An Eye to Teaching

[Plenary Session] Celebrating Excellence in Ophthalmology - APAO 2025 Award Lectures
Date: April 3, 2025
Time: 12:10-12:30
Venue: Brahmkamal Hall - Auditorium A

Teaching is a tripolar process where all three poles meet. Three poles are: Students or residents, teachers or professors, and institutions or medical colleges where the three poles meet and make it productive. This award is summation of this beautiful confluence where I have made a significant stride in imparting an honest and quality teaching spanning over a period of 4 decades. Teaching needs an innate desire and aptitude to impart knowledge and to see its benefit or impact in a simple term called feedback.

Having taught for 40 years by now, I have a long journey FROM my residency days to facultyship. At each step, I have tried to gather knowledge and pass it on to those who need them most.

I established the Retinopathy of Prematurity Centre at AIIMS New Delhi, Al-Bahar Centre for Ophthalmology, Kuwait, and many more centres within and outside the country. As the chairman of a national task force, I conducted several ROP awareness workshops/ symposia under WHO and the Government of India in all parts of India, training many ROP experts in India and abroad.

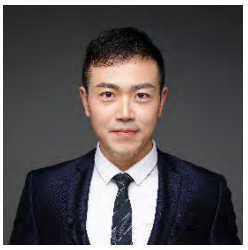

My work on the prevention of childhood blindness fetched me many awards and orations nationally and internationally.

It is really necessary to have a good institution for training. I am lucky that I got my training in vitreo-retina in Dr. R. P. Centre in AIIMS New Delhi, and later facultyship reaching up to directorship of the most prestigious Dr. R. P. Centre for Ophthalmic Sciences, which opened the vista of global panorama of ophthalmic education for me. Beginning from Dr. R. P. Centre AIIMS itself to various institutions around the world, I had the opportunity to interact and teach as a visiting professor. I took several initiatives to launch various teaching programs, including subspeciality certification in ophthalmology, hitherto unknown besides several initiatives in ICO, AIOS, SAO, APAO and WHO on ophthalmic education.

I am thankful to the jury for selecting me for the ICO Golden Apple Award and most humbly I accept. Thanks very much for the honor bestowed on me.

NAKAJIMA AWARD

Aimed at encouraging young ophthalmologists to play a more active role in ophthalmological development, the Nakajima Award honors young individuals for their outstanding international work in ophthalmology. The candidate should preferably be aged 40 years or younger and actively involved in international activities that assist in the development of ophthalmology, particularly in relation to the prevention of blindness, ophthalmic service, and research pertinent to major blinding conditions such as cataract, diabetic retinopathy, glaucoma, corneal grafting, keratomalacia, trachoma, and corneal ulcer.

Dr. Li's work primarily focuses on elucidating the mechanisms of glaucoma and developing innovative diagnostic and therapeutic strategies.

One of his notable contributions is the development of the iChallenge datasets and the iGlaucoma project, important resources that have advanced AI-driven glaucoma research. Introduced at MICCAI conferences since 2018, the iChallenge datasets (Medical Image Analysis 2020, Medical Image Analysis 2021, IEEE TMI 2022) have facilitated progress in AI's role in glaucoma diagnostics. The iGlaucoma platform, known for its comprehensive multimodal approach, integrates anterior and posterior segment image analyses, enhancing diagnostic capabilities (NPJ Digital Medicine 2020, Ophthalmology 2022a, Ophthalmology 2022b, Journal of Clinical Investigation 2022, Progress in Retinal and Eye Research 2024). These efforts led to the development of China's first licensed AI-based glaucoma screening device, in collaboration with Baidu.

Dr. Li has also developed a novel classification system for visual field defects and established a large normative database for retinal nerve fiber layer thickness in highly myopic Chinese populations (Ophthalmology 2022, Ophthalmology 2023, Progress in Retinal and Eye Research 2024). His research improves the specificity of differential diagnoses for myopic optic neuropathy and glaucomatous optic neuropathy, utilizing big data to enhance detection rates and treatment outcomes across the Asia-Pacific region. These advancements have the potential to positively impact the management of glaucoma in myopic patients, who are at a higher risk of developing the disease.

In gene therapy, Dr. Li has developed an innovative approach targeting the CA2 gene in the ciliary body using CRISPR-Cas9 (Cell Reports Medicine 2024). This advancement offers a potential "one-shot gene therapy" model that could complement traditional treatment methods, potentially reducing the disease burden for glaucoma patients. The clinical translation of this gene-editing approach shows promise for improving glaucoma management, with the potential to provide long-term control of intraocular pressure and slow disease progression. Encouraging efficacy has been shown in preclinical studies, and the therapy is now advancing to clinical stages.

Dr. Li's academic influence is recognized internationally through his collaborations and knowledge-sharing with leading global institutions. He has delivered numerous invited presentations at major ophthalmological meetings, including the Asia-Pacific Academy of Ophthalmology (APAO), the World Glaucoma Congress (WGC), and the Asia-Pacific Glaucoma Congress (APGC), contributing to global ophthalmology discourse. His achievements have earned him several recognitions, including the APAO Achievement Award and the Best Scientific Paper Award in 2024, demonstrating his role in advancing ophthalmological practice through innovation in AI, big data, and gene therapy. He was also selected as one of the World's Top 2% Scientists in Ophthalmology by Stanford University in 2024. In addition to his research and academic contributions, Dr. Li has been serving as an Editorial Board Member of the Asia-Pacific Journal of Ophthalmology (APJO) since 2021 and acts as an independent reviewer for respected journals such as Lancet Digital Health, Science Advances, Ophthalmology, IEEE TMI, Medical Image Analysis, and the British Journal of Ophthalmology, etc.

Dr. Li's dedication to advancing glaucoma research and treatment, along with his expertise in AI, big data, and gene therapy, pushes the boundaries of scientific understanding and has the potential to improve the lives of individuals affected by glaucoma worldwide.

Dennis Lam Award Lecture: AI Innovation in Ophthalmology: Where Are We Now?

[Plenary Session] APAO 2025 Dennis Lam Award

Date: April 3, 2025

Time: 16:45-17:05

Venue: Brahmkamal Hall - Auditorium A

Artificial intelligence (AI) is revolutionizing ophthalmology, driving advancements in diagnosis, patient care, and professional training. Generative AI models, including Generative Adversarial Networks (GANs) and diffusion models, are transforming image synthesis, enhancing diagnostic accuracy, and addressing sample bias in training datasets. These innovations enable the creation of synthetic ocular images, improving deep learning models for rare and underrepresented conditions, such as inherited retinal diseases.

The integration of multimodal AI, such as vision-language models (VLMs) and large multimodal models (LMMs), has introduced novel applications like text-to-image generation, fostering better patient education and clinical decision-making. However, this technology faces hurdles, including data bias, safety concerns, and regulatory challenges. Synthetic data, while promising, requires rigorous validation to mitigate risks like hallucinations and data privacy breaches.

AI-powered tools are also enhancing surgical training and simulation through immersive technologies, including video generation and real-time analytics. Despite these advancements, the implementation of AI in clinical workflows demands user-friendly designs, clear guidelines, and robust physician training to ensure seamless integration.

As the field evolves, collaborative efforts among academia, industry, and policymakers are vital to addressing ethical, legal, and practical barriers. AI's potential to democratize ophthalmology and improve outcomes heralds a new era of precision medicine, emphasizing the need for responsible development and regulation to unlock its full potential.

IC22 - Microbial Keratitis - Stop Bugging US!

Date :	03-04-2025
Time :	09:45-11:15
Hall :	Brahmkamal Hall - Auditorium B

Fernandes MERLE [F09135]

Microbial Keratitis is an Extremely Common Corneal Pathology Encountered in Developing Countries. a Presumptive Diagnosis Can Be Made by a Detailed History and Clinical Examination However This Must Be Confirmed by Laboratory Investigations. Early and Rapid Diagnosis with Institution of Appropriate Treatment Can Result in Faster Resolution. Emergence of Newer Atypical Organisms May Confound the Diagnosis Necessitating a High Degree of Suspicion in Non-Responding Cases. However Despite Best Efforts, Surgical Modalities May Be Needed. Objectives Attendees Will Learn About the Clinical Manifestations of Microbial Keratitis of Varied Etiologies and the Typical and Atypical Presentations of Common and Uncommon Organisms Through Case Based Presentations and Clinical Images. Surgical Videos Would Help Them Gain an In-Depth Understanding of the Technical Nuances of Various Surgical Modalities Employed in the Treatment of Microbial Keratitis.

During each case, the video will be paused at different points for the audience to decide what strategy to pursue using mobile device polling. After seeing the audience's preferences, an international panel of experts, who themselves have never seen the cases, will give their own management advice. The outcome of each case will then be shown.

Quality of Care Delivery is Vital in Healthcare and a Key Component in Ensuring Sustainability. Though This is Well Known, There Are Few Monitoring Systems That Ensure a Comprehensive yet Detailed Tracking of Quality Assurance in an Organization. Organizations Who Prioritize Quality, Put in Place a Monitoring System to Track Not Only Vital Quality Indicators That Comprises Major Patient Safety Failures, Infections, Complications but Also Patient Satisfaction. A Comprehensive Approach for Structure, Processes and Outcome Monitoring to Improve the Quality of Eye Care is the Need of the Hour. in Order to Ensure Safe, High Quality and Timely Eye Care Delivery to the Patient's Utmost Satisfaction, We Have Created an Online Quality Assurance System. This Helps the Organization to Track Its Quality Parameters, Take Evidence- Based Decisions, and Surgeons to Track, Improve and Benchmark Their Performance. It Bridges the Chasm in Quality and Creates a Sustainable Model for Monitoring.

The Incidence of Pseudophakic Corneal Edema/ Bullous Keratopathy is Increasing. We Also See Large Number of Fuchs' Dystrophy Cases, Because of Better Diagnostic Tools. so, We Have to Do Lots of Endothelial Keratoplasty (Ek). Descemet Membrane Endothelial Keratoplasty (DMEK) is Now Preferable Over Dsek/dsaek Because It is Perfectly Anatomical with Faster Rehabilitation and with 20/20 Vision in Most Cases. but Learning Curve of Dmek is Relatively Steep. This Video-Assisted Instruction Course Will Highlight Dmek Step-By-Step and In-Depth. It Includes: Donor Dm-Roll Preparation; Descemet Scoring and Stripping; Donor Insertion Techniques and Unfolding; and Air Management, Etc. It Will Also Deal with Case Selections; Indications, Contraindications, Complications with Their Management. At the End of the Course, the Attendee Will Learn Dmek Procedures Step-By-Step in a Simplified Manner Which is Relevant to Indian Scenario.

After residency, newly-minted ophthalmologists are faced with a plethora of options - fellowships in India, international examinations, private practice, or further international training. One may find it difficult to choose the right career path. This instruction course simplifies matters for trainees: from maximising their training by accessing the right resources, foreign qualifying exams, observerships overseas, the options beyond ophthalmology, and how to chose what's best for you. The course takes the form of a panel discussion. The panelists are from premier ophthalmology institutes across the country and are actively involved in ophthalmology education, with in-depth knowledge on the topics allotted to them.

In its 8th consecutive year, this course not only analyses the benefits of each career path, but also objectively discusses how to maximise the opportunities available, making it a unique course that every young ophthalmologist must attend.

IC394 - Retina in systemic diseases- Be the Sherlock Holmes of clinical medicine

Date :	04-04-2025
Time :	08:00-09:30
Hall :	Brahmkamal Hall - Auditorium B

Gopal S. PILLAI

The Retina is a Unique Part of the Body Where Blood Vessels and Nerves Can Be Directly Observed Non- Invasively. Retinal Changes Often Provide Early Indicators of Systemic Diseases Such as Diabetes, Hypertension, and Autoimmune Disorders. Recognizing These Changes Can Lead to Early Diagnosis and Intervention, Potentially Preventing the Progression of These Systemic Conditions. Retinal Changes Can Serve as a Barometer for the Severity and Progression of Systemic Diseases. Monitoring Retinal Health Helps in Assessing the Effectiveness of Treatment and in Making Necessary Adjustments to the Management of the Systemic Disease.. Many Systemic Diseases, If Left Unchecked, Can Lead to Significant Retinal Damage and Subsequent Vision Loss. Understanding the Retinal Implications of Systemic Diseases Allows for Timely Interventions That Can Prevent Visual Impairment. This Ic Will Be Valuable for all Ophthalmologists and Even Postgraduates for Knowing the Retinal Changes in Systemic Diseases.

Corneal Perforations Are Ophthalmological Emergencies Those Can Have Serious and Detrimental Outcomes. Corneal Perforations May Occur Following Infective, Neuroptrophic, and Autoimmune Corneal Disorders. Corneal Perforations May Also Occur Following Trauma and Chemical Injuries. Referrals to the Tertiary Care Centres Indicate That Corneal Perforations Are Either Missed or Treated Inappropriately. Ophthalmologists Should Have High Index of Suspicion and Perform Seidel's Test to Detect Corneal Perforations Early. Choice of Treatment Option is Determined by the Size, Location and Underlying Aetiology of Perforation. Small and Medium Sized Corneal Perforations Are Amenable to Cyanoacrylate, Fibrin Glue and Amg. However, Patch Grafts, Conjunctiva Pedical Grafts and Therapeutic Grafts Are Needed for Large Perforations. Case Based Presentations Augmented with Videos of Techniques Will Give Attendees a Real Time Experience of Managing Corneal Perforations.

IC148 - A Paradigm Shift in Initial Surgery for Primary Congenital Glaucoma

A. K. MANDAL

Date :	04-04-2025
Time :	08:00-09:30
Hall :	Neelkamal Hall 305

In Primary Congenital Glaucoma (Pcg), Standard Initial Treatment of Choice Such as Goniotomy or Trabeculotomy Opens Approximately 1/3rd of the Drainage Angle. Children Often Require Multiple Glaucoma Procedures to Obtain IOP Control. Ultimately, the 6-0 Prolene Suture Was Used to Traverse 360 Degrees of Schlemm's Canal with Improved Outcomes. However, This Surgery Was Found to Have Complications Such as Creation of a False Passage and Misdirected Suture. an Illuminated Microcatheter Now Enables Visualization of the Path Through Schlemm's Canal, Thereby Allowing Circumferential Trabeculotomy to Be Performed Safely and Provides Excellent IOP Lowering Results, with Minimal Complications. in Advanced Pcg, Distal Outflow Channel May Be Atrophied and Necessitates Addition of Trabeculectomy to Circumferential Trabeculotomy.

Cataract Surgery Has Seen a Paradigm Shift from Being a Restorative to Now an Established Refractive Procedure. Technological Innovation and Specification in the Intraocular Lenses Further Evolved to Improve the Quality of the Vision and Life of the Patient Post-Operatively. Toric, Multi & Trifocals Considered as Premium IOLS Are Used Mainly in Patients Without Any Other Ocular Comorbidities. in an Attempt to Achieve Good Quality of Vision at all Distances, While Avoiding Undesirable Photic Phenomena, a New Generation of IOLS Were Introduced Namely EDOF & ERV IOLS. Trifocal IOLS Were Introduced, Offering a Focal Point for Intermediate Vision. Cataract Surgery is Portrayed as the Easiest and the Fastest Surgery. but It is Not Always True. a Trainee, or Even an Experienced Surgeon in Complicated Cataract Surgery Can End up Doing Posterior Capsular Rent. Management of PCR Requires Expertise in Anterior Vitrectomy, as Well as Meticulous Planning of Placement as Well as Choice of IOL. the Choice of IOL Lies Between Anterior Chamber IOL, Sulcus Fixated IOL and Iris Claw IOLS. the Aciols Are Associated with Complications Like Uveitis, Glaucoma and Corneal Decompensation. the Sulcus Fixated IOLS Are Till Date a Domain of Posterior Segment Surgeons. so, the Choice Left to Anterior Segment Surgeon is Iris Claw Lenses . the Complications Associated with It Are Very Few E.G. Ovalisation of Pupil, Mild Uveitis Etc. with the Ease of Availability of These Lenses, They Should Be the First Choice in Situation of Deficient Capsule.

IC179 - OBITUARY: Clinical examination in glaucoma diagnosis

Date :	04-04-2025
Time :	09:45-11:15
Hall :	Kadamb Hall 405

Sood DEVINDRA

Traditionally the Diagnosis of Glaucoma Has Revolved Around the Intra Ocular Pressure, Optic Disc, Visual Fields and Gonioscopy. One Concern Has Been the Late Stage at Which Glaucoma is Being Diagnosed in Our Country. the Other is the False Positives We Create in Our Busy Clinics as We Depend on Technology to Answer the Question - Yes Glaucoma / No Glaucoma. Since Normal in Medicine is Rarely Described as an Absolute Value, Many Without Glaucoma Are on Treatment Simply Because a Clinical Co Relate of Instrument-Based Findings Has Not Been Done. If Intra Ocular Pressure is One Variable, Then 11-21 Mmhg is Considered Normal. Do We Start Treatment If the IOP is 22 or 23 Mmhg. This Course Highlights Through Case Discussions the Importance of Clinically Co Relating IOP Readings, Structural and Functional Assessment of the Optic Disc and Angle Outflow Facility in the Clinical Perspective to Avoid Unnecessary Treatment.

Recently various new adjunctive techniques in surgeries for eyes with epiretinal proliferation, macular hole and subretinal hemorrhage etc. have been reported. In this symposium, indication and results of various types of ERM surgeries will be presented, followed by the presentation of inverted epiretinal proliferation membrane flap for lamellar hole. Vitrectomy for macular holes, especially in the highly myopic eyes, has sometimes been controversial, and indication of macular buckling for highly myopic eyes has been in the debate for long time. Macular hemorrhage will be another important indication for surgery. Robotic-assisted endoscope and subretinal injections using robotics will be promising surgical adjunct devices in the next era. In the panel discussion, the audience will get new dynamic ideas of macular surgeries.

Paediatric Disorders of the Eye Are Often Diagnosed Late Due to Lack of Clarity in Visual Complaints or Lack of Awareness. Children Do Not Come up with Complain of Visual Loss Until Late.Acute Problems Other Than Trauma Are Often Ignored. Modern Approach to a Child with Optic Neuritis Which is Often Bilateral, is More Demanding, with OCT, Serology, Neurological Imaging and Csf Analysis,which Help in Timely Intervention Strategies. Postcovid Era Has Drastically Increased Usage of Smartphones and Gadgets Among Childrenwith a Surge in Acute Acquired Nonaccommodative Esotropia, the Mangement of Which is Controversial.Uveitic Vision Loss in Children Need Urgent Interventions and is Specific to Children with Juvenile Arthritis.Transient Visual Obscurations of ' Black Outs' Can Be the Result of a Trivial Migraine to Very Serious Intracranial Issues. a Not Uncommon Sight Threatening or Life Threatening Orbital Cellulitis and Hydrops of Cornea in Keratoconus Are Also Discussed.

Current Concept - Do's and Don't in Ocular Trauma : How tomaximize Outcome?

Date :	04-04-2025
Time :	13:00-14:15
Hall :	Trade Room 5

Amit RAJ

With Advancement in Infrastructure and Industrialization Incidence of Ocular Trauma is Increasing Significantly. Ocular Trauma May Present as Isolated or as Part of Polytrauma. During Review of These Cases, It is Found That Prognosis in Many Cases Can Be Improved If Initial Management at Primary or Secondary Level Has Followed Standard Management Protocol. Stepwise Management Approach Gives Good Outcome Even in Worst Cases. Initial Intervention at Primary and Secondary Level as Well Approach to Manage These Cases of Ocular Trauma Affects the Final Outcome. Complex Cases of Ocular Trauma Like Canalicular Injury, Orbital Trauma, Complex Corneal Perforation with Lenticular Injury and Posterior Segment Trauma Can Be Referred to a Tertiary Centre After Primary Management.

The Global Eye Genetics Consortium is an International Organisation with a Key Goal of Spreading Knowledge and Fostering Collaborations in the Field of Ocular Genetics.

Studying Genetic Eye Disorders is Crucial for Understanding the Underlying Causes of Vision Loss and Developing Effective Treatments. These Disorders Often Result from Inherited Mutations, Making Early Diagnosis and Intervention Possible Through Genetic Screening. Research in This Field Not Only Improves Patient Care but Also Advances Gene Therapy, Regenerative Medicine, and Personalized Treatments. Furthermore, Insights Gained from Studying Genetic Eye Diseases Can Shed Light on Broader Biological Processes, Benefiting Research on Other Genetic Conditions. This Ocular Genetics Session Organized by the Global Eye Genetic Consortium (GEGC) Would Be Highly Valuable for Advancing Knowledge and Collaboration in the Field of Genetic Eye Diseases. This Session Would Educate Ophthalmologists on the Latest Breakthroughs in Genetic Diagnostics, Therapies, and Research Methodologies. It Also Provides a Platform to Discuss Challenging Cases, Promote Interdisciplinary Collaboration, and Highlight the Role of Genetics in Personalized Medicine. This Initiative Can Help Integrate Cutting-Edge Genetic Approaches Into Routine Clinical Practice, Ultimately Improving Patient Outcomes.

Current Concept - Pterygium management: Revolution in Evolution

Date :	04-04-2025
Time :	16:45-18:00
Hall :	Trade Room 6

Sanjay Kumar MISHRA

Currently, conjunctival autograft (CAG) following pterygium excision is considered to be 'gold standard' with a recurrence rate varying between 2 to 7.4%. The very purpose of pterygium surgery gets defeated by its recurrence and we are aiming for a 'zero' recurrence. To achieve zero recurrence, various techniques are evolving in recent years including P.E.R.F.E.C.T technique, pterygium excision with mini-Simple limbal epithelial transplantation (mini-SLET) and Pterygium Extended Removal with mini-SLET (PER with mini- SLET) for both primary and recurrent pterygium. This video assisted instruction course will waive the ophthalmologist through the current and the evolving techniques highlighting their concepts, surgical techniques, recurrence rate and the complications.

Performing Cataract Surgery in Patients with Extremely Dense Rock-Hard Cataracts is Very Challenging. These Highly Dense Opaque Cataracts Makes Perioperative Visualization of the Capsule Difficult. These Lenses Are Hard to Maneuver and Typically Occupy a Larger Volume. the Lens Capsule is Thin and Fragile, Zonules Are Weak. This Type of Cataract Requires Longer Phaco Times and Higher Energy Levels. Some of Them Are Associated with Small Pupils and Other Situations Like Zonular Dialysis. to Get Favourable Outcomes in These Patient Often a Combination of Technique and Technology is Required. The Prevalence of PACG is Roughly Equal to POAG; Accordingly; Nearly 33 Million People Worldwide Are Affected by PACG. Visual Impairment from PACG is More Severe Than POAG. as Nearly 18% World's Population Resides in INDIA, Causes of Blindness and Visual Impairment in INDIA Will Exert Significant Leverage on the Projected Totals, and Have Increasing Impact on the Socioeconomics of the World. with an Expected Increase in the Population and Longevity, PACG is Likely to Become a Major Cause of Ocular Morbidity in INDIA. It is Imperative That We Pick up and Treat PACG in Earlier Stage. This Course Will Provide Accurate Definitions to Be Used for PACD (Primary Angle Closure Disease), Role of Imaging in PACD. as Medical Management is Mainstay of Glaucoma, the Difference We Need to Know in Medical Management Compared to Medical Management of POAG Will Be Discussed. Corneal Infections Are the Most Important Causes of Vision Impairment and Blindness Especially in Developing World. Timely Institution of Appropriate Antimicrobial Therapy is Crucial in Saving Vision and Eye. However, There Are Several Challenges in Establishing Etiological Diagnosis. Most Clinicians Do Not Have Access to Microbiology Laboratory. Therefore, the Patients Are Treated Empirically Delaying Institution of Appropriate Therapy Despite Approaching an Ophthalmologist. Further, in Last Decade a Wide Variety of New or Uncommon Organisms Have Been Identified as Cause of Corneal Ulcer. These Organisms Require Specific Therapy. It is Essential for Clinicians to Be Aware of Symptoms and Signs That Require Referral to a Specialty Centre or Special Diagnostic Tests for Establishing Accurate and Timely Diagnosis. During This Course Participants Will Learn Clinical Characteristics That Suggest Uncommon Infections and Ways of Establishing Diagnosis Using Case-Based Approach.

[ESCRS-APAO Joint Symposium] Tackling Posterior Capsule Tears: How to Avoid, How to Rescue

Date :	05-04-2025
Time :	09:45-11:15
Hall :	Brahmkamal Hall - Auditorium B

Chairs : Burkhard DICK, Rohit OM PARKASH, Marie-jose TASSIGNON

Posterior capsule rupture during cataract surgery remains the most feared complication during cataract surgery. Some ocular parameters are well known as risk factors, and recently, the floppy capsule due to ageing of the retrolenticular space with detachment of the Wieger ligament, as a result, is most probably the most frequently occurring risk factor. If present, the extend of the posterior capsule rupture should be reduced, which can be done by better understanding the relationships between the posterior capsule and the anterior hyaloid. Different rescue techniques will be shown by an international faculty from EU and AP.

IC375 - Resurgence Of Surface Ablation As A Primary Procedure In Refractive Surgery

Date :	05-04-2025
Time :	11:45-13:00
Hall :	Trade Room 1

Nilesh MOHAN

The Development of Excimer Laser Ablation Represented a Breakthrough in the Correction of Ametropia. Laser in Situ Keratomileusis (LASIK) Uses Prk Technology but Performs the Procedure Under a Lamellar Flap Formed with a Microkeratome or Femtosecond Laser. Recent Data Suggests That Both Techniques Are Effective with Equal Vision and Equal Higher Order Aberrations at a 6 Month Postoperative Time Point.
Therefore, with Advancements in Treatment Algorithms, Precision Technology, Use of Antimitotic Agents and Comparable Results, Both Prk and LASIK Can Provide Successful Refractive Outcomes. Hence, Prk is Again Being Revisited and Resurging as a Safe and Effective Procedure in Refractive Surgery.

Innovation in the treatment of corneal pathologies can take several forms. In this symposium we will cover several of these. An overview to assess corneal damage as well as the use of amniotic membrane with stromal cells to act as a surrogate niche for limbal epithelial stem cell expansion. Corneal innervation is vital for the stability of the ocular surface, and pharmacotherapy is an option in this instance. For more severe disease of the stroma, novel artificial stromal replacement or stomal regeneration may be required and the use of stem cells.

Trabeculectomy is still the Most Common and Conventional Surgical Procedure Performed in Patients Requiring Glaucoma Surgery. However, Merely Doing Surgery Only is Not Sufficient. Wound Nurturing is Required in Form of Multiple Interventions in Early Postoperative Period for a Successful Outcome. Failing Bleb May Be in Associated with High or Low IOP in Postoperative Period Which Needs Attention and Intervention. These Interventions May Be Conservative Management or Minor Office Based Procedures or Sometimes Taking Patients to OT Again. so, Detailed Discussion with Patient Preoperatively is Mandatory, Making Patient Aware That in Postoperative Period, Frequent Follow Ups Are Required Till 4-6 Weeks Till Bleb is Stable and Functional. Surgeon Must Be Well Aware of Signs of Failing Bleb so as to Pick up Early Bleb Failure and Manage Accordingly. This IC Will Be Very Useful for Glaucoma Specialists as Well as General Ophthalmologists Intending to Start Glaucoma Practice.

Primary Angle Closure Disease (ACD) Accounts for 50% of Glaucoma in INDIA and 70% of Glaucoma Blindness. Many Acd Patients Are Asymptomatic, Making Accurate Diagnosis Reliant on the Examiner's Skills. This Underscores the Importance of Comprehensive Ophthalmologists in Diagnosing Acd in the Community. Confusion Persists Regarding Acd, Such as the Need for Iridotomy and the Role of Clear Lens Extraction, with Practice Often Diverging from Evidence. the Eagle Study Has Failed to Impact Practice Patterns. Rarely Discussed Aspects Include Plateau Iris and the Role of the Iris and Choroid in Pathogenesis. Recent Advancements Include Improved Imaging & Portable Devices. MIGS May Reduce Risks When Used Appropriately. Complications in Surgeries Like Cataract and Trabeculectomy in Angle Closure Patients Are Often Avoidable but Keep Appearing. Our Medical Curriculum Teaches us to Become Great Clinicians Full Stop. but Nothing About the Journey to Start a Practice Which is Almost Imperative to Most Graduates. The Challenges of This Do Not End with Post- Graduation but Rise Much After It. The Process of Setting up a Practice, Rising Demands of Standards of Patient Care, Unhappy Patients, Litigations, and the Growing Mandate for Accreditation from Agencies Cannot Be Dismissed. In This Digital Age, When Healthcare Has Been Accepted as a Service, Merely Being a Good Clinician is Insufficient. But Building a Team and Medico-Legal Precautions, Digital Outreach to Increase Footfalls, and Ways to Increase Patient Satisfaction in Addition to Good OPD Patient Handling Skills Can Take a Small Business Rise to the Next Level. As a Group That Has Seen These Difficulties and Has Managed to Rise from the Ashes to Multiple Centers Across INDIA, We Want to Share Our Experiences on the Issues That Matter in Real Life.

Date :	06-04-2025
Time :	08:00-09:30
Hall :	Palash Hall - Grand Ball Room C

Elankumaran PASUPATHI

Cataract Surgery is still the Most Common Refractive Surgery We Perform. With Modern "Refractive" Cataract Surgery, We Have the Ability to Remove the Cataract and Improve Vision by Correcting Astigmatism and Presbyopia at the Same Time. "Will I See 20/20 After the Procedure? " Is the Most Common Question Patients Ask us. While Asking and Providing 20/20 is a Norm Rather Than Exception, Expectations Around Time Needed for Neuroadaptation is Critical to Success. Despite the Refractive Success, There Remains a Subset of Patients Who Are Not Satisfied with the Final Vision Obtained. This IC Will Address the Problems a Surgeon Faces & the Advantages and Disadvantages of the Different Technologies Available with Evidence Available in the Literature.

Retinitis is a Serious Vision Threatening Uveitis. It Can Be Confused with Other Types of Uveitis. Thus, It is Important for Ophthalmologists to Learn How to Identify Retinitis and Then Initiate Treatment or Early Referral. Many Cases of Retinitis Are Due to Infectious Causes Where Initiation of Steroid Therapy Without Cover of Appropriate Anti-Infective Therapy May Be Harmful. In This Course We Shall Teach the Ophthalmologist to Identify Retinitis Using Basic Ophthalmic Techniques. Further How Multimodal Imaging Can Help Classify Retinitis Into Various Types. Suprachoroidal hemorrhage

Suprachoroidal hemorrhage is a rare but devastating complication of ophthalmic surgeries. Early identification and judicious subsequent management can greatly alter the outcome which is otherwise very poor. This instruction course aims to discuss in detail about the basics including anatomy, risk factors, identification and subsequent management of suprachoroidal hemorrhage. Various techniques of drainage of suprachoroidal drainage will be shown through surgical videos. Glaucoma surgery being the most commonly encountered cause of post surgical suprachoroidal hemorrhage will be discussed with special attention. We aim to highlight tips and tricks in especially complicated cases for which we have compiled more than 10 surgical videos in different scenarios.
